Subject: Following the FRAM workshop

Dear all,

Many thanks to all of you for attending the workshop and having contributed to the discussions. Special thanks to those who presented their work, to Luigi and Eric who organised the catering and room bookings, and to Erik of course, for moderating the workshop and sharing his thoughts with us.

It is now up to us to major on the network we just created, continue to share ideas, and more generally, get the ball rolling. I thought a good starting point would be to email everyone with some basic summary material. To this end, I have tried to put a list of participants together in order to keep track of who's where. I have also compiled what I think were the "follow-up" ideas. Pls shout if I missed someone or something.

- ...aka the "FRAMing success" paper. In the following weeks, I'll produce the skeleton for a position paper describing the application of FRAM to a successful story/case. I might ask for Erik's help for steering purposes. After the skeleton is drafted, we'll open it to all of you for further contributions and see what we want to do with it.

3- Further ideas

- A "review meetings" was, I think, the term coined by one of us to suggest that we should share our experiences with FRAM within a sort of use group. Hope I got that right. I (for one) suppose it's a bit early to decide when/where we want to meet next but the idea seems to be an important one as far as the "community" aspect of our group is concerned.

- Comparing cases with different methods. I don't remember where we wanted to go with this one but I can see how we could help practioners by benchmarking several methods against one case. But maybe the initial intention was different.

4- On the practical side of things

-----

- I'll see with Eric (my French colleague) whether and when we can deploy such tools as a shared www folder, a forum, an email alias and so on.

5- Conclusion

-----

- I'll keep you updated on how things are progressing. In the mean time, if you have comments or ideas, feel free to share them. Also, if there is something you'd like to see in the www folder (in terms of documents, presentations, papers, reports, ...), just shout. I'll collate everything and make it a set of requirements for the contents of our tool box.

- Oh...one last thing. I have written this email and you might think that I will organise everything. I don't mind, but only if t's needed. In other words, if there is any sort of support someone wants to offer, don't feel shy. I'm not ego-driven to the point of declining help :-)

Until then, all the best to everyone. Speak to you soon.

Regards,
Denis
